QM3 Utility Services: A Partnership Built on Values

The Company

QM3 Utility Services is a trusted provider of corrosion inspection, protection and gas leak survey solutions, focused on keeping infrastructure secure and communities safe. Headquartered in Stone Mountain, Georgia, QM3 operates with a mission of delivering professional excellence. The company stands out for its unwavering dedication to quality and integrity in every inspection and report. Guided by the belief that safety is the cornerstone of progress, QM3's team of 80 employees works to uphold the highest standards. The company also supports its workforce and community by offering employment opportunities with health insurance and 401(k) benefits.

The History

Since 2007, the partnership between QM3 Utility Services and Southern Company Gas has been built on a shared commitment to excellence and reliability. From the beginning, QM3 has sought to go beyond the role of a service provider, positioning itself as a trusted partner by aligning its operational objectives with the rigorous standards upheld by Southern Company Gas. This alignment has enabled QM3 to navigate complex challenges effectively and consistently surpass expectations, demonstrating that collaboration grounded in shared values fosters lasting success.

The Growth & Impact

The growth of QM3 is guided by its A.R.T.S. core values, which form the foundation of its enduring partnership with Southern Company Gas:

Authenticity: QM3 promotes a culture where every team member can speak openly and without fear of judgment, fostering honesty, transparency, and genuine collaboration in every project.

Respect: By embracing diverse viewpoints and practicing empathy, QM3 transforms diversity into a source of strength—enhancing the protection and service provided to Southern Company Gas communities.

Trust: Through consistent communication and accountability, QM3 has built a relationship of mutual trust with Southern Company Gas leadership and field teams.

Safety: Above all, QM3 is committed to safeguarding lives. Its “see something, do something, say something” approach ensures that every technician and community member returns home safely each day.

Through this partnership, QM3 has strengthened its presence while enhancing the resilience and safety of Southern Company Gas's infrastructure. By maintaining a steadfast commitment to doing things right—or making them right—QM3 remains focused on safeguarding what matters most: lives, communities and reputations.
